Sandburg Will Lecture in Narberth April 23

American Poet-Biographer to Appear Under Auspices of Library

2 HOURS ADDED DAILY

Carl Sandburg will lecture at the Narberth Public School auditorium on April 23.

The American poet and biographer will appear under the sponsorship of the Narberth Library Association and his lecture will be the first of a series to be given in Narberth.

Announcement of Sandburg's appearance was made Tuesday night at a special meeting of the library's Board of Trustees by the Lecture Committee, Robert M. Cameron, chairman; the Rev. Robert E. Keighton and Clarence Kaeber. It marked the inauguration of the first point in a five-point plan of the president, the Rev. Mr. Keighton, for an extension of library service.

On recommendation of the Administration Committee, Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood, chairman, it was approved that the library be open from 10 to 12 A. M. daily except Sundays and holidays, beginning April 5. The present hours of 2 to 9 P. M. will remain in effect.

Carl Sandburg became nationally prominent in 1920 with "Smoke and Steel," a saga of the industrial worker. Previously his career included jobs as secretary to the mayor of Milwaukee, Stockholm correspondent for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, editorial writer on the Chicago Daily News. He won national poetry awards in 1914, 1919 and 1921.

His later works include "Rootabaga Stories," 1922, and "Abraham Lincoln—the Prairie Years," 1926.

Sandburg is famous as an American folk song recitalist.

Rod and Gun Club Nominates Officers

Clarence L. Ederer Shows Films and Gives Talk on Alaskan Trip

SHOOT PRIZE AWARDED

Nominations for officers to head the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club were made at that organization's meeting Wednesday night at the Community Building, Narberth.

Members also heard a thrilling description of Clarence L. Ederer's Alaskan hunting trip last fall when, after his plane was wrecked, he lived on broiled caribou meat for two weeks while his guide and pilot went for aid from civilization 700 miles away.

Another feature was the awarding to Walter P. Miesen of first prize, a Weaver telescope, for being high man with 244 out of a possible 250 in the small-bore rifle fifty-foot indoor-range contest.

From these nominees the officers will be elected at the April 21 meeting:

President—C. H. A. Chain and Henry J. Moller.

Vice-presidents (three to be elected)—Joseph P. White, Dr. Curtis Whitticar, Charles Hansell, J. Albright and Lance Hathaway.

Secretary—A. J. Cliff and L. DuBois.

Treasurer—George A. Purring and A. Donald Amesbury.

Board of Directors (three to be elected)—Wayne Burnside, H. Hopkins, Steve Slavin, R. C. Cole and D. J. Hess. The retiring president, John A. Miller, automatically will become a director for the ensuing year.

Field captain—Wallace Goodwin.

The club appropriated $25 for the propagation of small game.

President Miller announced that the Montgomery County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will hold a shoot at the Graterford penitentiary range this Saturday. The federation also will hold an all-day affair July 6 at Souderton in connection with that borough's fiftieth anniversary jubilee celebration, when a buffalo roast is promised.

Mr. Ederer, big-game hunter and former assemblyman, of Melrose, showed several thousand feet of film of the beautiful mountain scenery of Alaska and also of its wild life and its salmon canning industry. He lauded the hospitality of Alaskans and, despite the misadventures of his last trip, hopes to take the journey again.

Tells of Alaskan Thrills

former assemblyman of Melrose, Pa., who told Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club members Wednesday night of his Alaskan hunting expedition, during which his party's plane was wrecked 700 miles from civilization.

Penn Valley Neighbors Hold Dance and Bridge

200 Residents at Party Following Annual Meeting of Association

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The building boom in the Penn Valley section and the consequent influx of new residents was the inspiration for a gala party last Friday night. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Penn Valley Association, followed this year by a dance and bridge.

More than 200 Penn Valley residents attended the affair, held at the War Tribute House in Merion. Bridge was provided in groups of three tables, with a generous assortment of prizes; a dance orchestra was kept busy; refreshments and door prizes were the order of business at midnight.

Walter D. Fuller was chosen president for another year; Percival Roberts, Jr., and Eugene Jordan, vice-presidents; Herman O. West, treasurer, and Jean G. Allen, secretary. Six members of the Executive Committee were re-elected for three-year terms: Frank H. Mancill, the Rev. Gibson Bell, E. Burke Wilford, Mr. Fuller, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Jordan.

The by-laws were amended to increase the Executive Committee from eighteen members (plus the Pencoyd and General Wayne commissioners ex-officio) to twenty-one members, with no mention made of the commissioners. The three new places will be filled at the next meeting of the Executive Committee.

In his report of the year's doings President Fuller mentioned: The map in course of preparation; the imminent installation of a traffic light at Montgomery avenue and McClenaghan's Mill road; plans for the beautification of the township dump; road improvements current and contemplated, and plans for a larger membership.

Invitations to the affair were sent to all new residents of the section whose names could be obtained.

High School's Senior Play to be Repeated on Saturday

'The Good Listener," by James Reach, will be given again this Saturday evening by the senior class of the Lower Merion High School in the school auditorium.

While the first performanse was originally scheduled for this Friday evening, it was moved back to last night in order not to conflict with the Lower Merion-Steelton basketball game tonight at the Palestra.

Two sets of actors are sharing the leading roles. Last evening Mildred Holt, Virginia Hunter and Herbert Foster played the major parts, which Saturday evening will be taken by Janice Connelly, Pauline Wood and Samuel McCartney.

These members of the supporting cast are appearing in both performances: Evelyn McGarvey, Dorothy Ogden, Patti Leopold, Dorothy Herbest, Eugene Wingate, John Tifft, Stanley Ettenger, Harry Maxwell and Tubby King.

Fine Teamwork Downs Northampton; Maroon Five Faces Steelton Tonight

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Lower Merion's basketeers continue on their winning ways. Following the Coatesville embroglio which the Maroon won by a slender margin in the closing minutes, the boys eased over Quakertown by a 33 to 18 score. This game with the Upper Montgomery County team brought the title of District I champions to Bill Anderson's squad.

The trip to Allentown was made through a March blizzard that kept hundreds of local fans from chancing the drive. The band and a few followers were sufficient, however, to spur the boys to an easy 31 to 19 victory over Northampton, champions in their home district. The team probably reached the Eiffel of efficiency in this game. Every boy handled the ball perfectly, passed and cut to perfection, and made good on a goodly number of scoring chances. There was no outstanding star that night. Each member of the team played as though he was a cog in a perfectly working machine. The results were astounding to coach, players, opponents, and spectators. Never again will the boys play as smoothly as they did in the Northampton game.

Tonight Bill Anderson leads his squad into battle against Steelton at the Palestra. The central-Pennsylvania lads play a modification of the zone defense—two men up front and three lined up in front of the basket. This is just as difficult as the three and two or the two-one-two defense. If Lower Merion handles the ball carefully and nurses it up close to the basket before shooting, they should be able to win. It would be folly to assume that a Maroon victory is a foregone conclusion, based on the results of the Northampton game. Steelton will be a much more difficult team to handle. Anderson must drill a complete new offense against Steelton's defense because it will be the

Former Narberth Singer Pleases in Opera, Folk Songs and Sacred Numbers

She opened the program with "Don Fatale," from the opera of "Don Carlos," by Verdi, followed by two short selections in German. Her second group included "The Low Back Car," "Love Went a Riding" and "The Years of Spring." A very charming encore followed, entitled "The American Lullaby," by Rich.

Her third and final group consisted of sacred songs. These were given by request and included "Power Eternal," from Stabat Mater, and "I Waited for the Lord." In this last group she was assisted by her sister, Mrs. C. Frederick Kuebler, Jr., who is also well known for her fine voice.

The accompanist was Miss Katherine O'Boyle. Mrs. Edward Heymann was in charge of the program.

Harvey Harman Addresses Rotary and Shows Films

Last year Harvey Harman addressed the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club on the "Character Building Effects of Athletics." Tuesday, when he again spoke before the organization at the Overbrook Golf Club, his first remarks were to the effect that he wouldn't need to talk on that theme this time, as he had a winning football team last fall.

Harman, head coach at Penn, showed motion pictures of his 1936 eleven and also technicolor films taken on his trip to Havana during the Cuban sports carnival.

William S. Howard introduced Harman. Birthday greetings were extended to John A. Miller, George B. Suplee, W. James Drennen, Hervey Keim and Lieutenant Walter Brown.

Mrs. Huber Resigns From Republican County Committee

Withdraws When Group Fails to Include Her in Conferences

IS SECOND RESIGNATION

Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., of Haverford, resigned Monday from the Executive Committee of the Republican organization of Montgomery County.

Her resignation came as a result of the controversy over the appointment of a successor to fill the vacancy created by resignation of William D. Ridgway as Montgomery County Commissioner.

Mrs. Huber, president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women and women's leader in this section of the county, took exception to the fact that she had not been consulted as a member of the committee concerning Ridgway's successor.

Her resignation closely followed that of Julian Barnard, Norristown attorney, who resigned last week from the Executive Committee of Nine which was organized several weeks ago and presumably endowed with the power of determining the policies of the party in Montgomery County.

Her letter follows in part:

"My intention to become a member of the Executive Committee was regarded by many women in this part of the county at least, as a tribute to them and a recognition of their right to be represented in important deliberations. Feeling my responsibility to them, as well as being deeply concerned over our Party's future. I accepted the invitation extended to me.

"Since I have not participated in the recent important deliberations and decisions and have been deprived of the representation it would only be reasonable for these women to assume existed, I now withdraw as a member of the committee and do hereby tender my resignation with regret."

Players This Week-End Give 25th Production

"Sun Up" at Narberth School This Friday and Saturday Evenings

FAITH FARMER STARRED

The Narberth Players will celebrate their twenty-fifth production this Friday and Saturday evenings with "Sun-Up," a mountain tale of North Carolina, written by Lula Vollmer.

Starred in the cast is Faith Farmer as Widow Cagle. She has proved her fine interpretation of character parts Featured for this performance are Edward C. Batchelor, Paul Goodyear, Fay Fetterolf and George McAllister. Others in the cast are Bill Hand, Paul Brown, George Suplee and Roger Burns.

The scene, laid in a typical North Carolina mountain cabin, was executed by Charles J. Clarke, of Merion. Mr. Clarke has been responsible for many of the settings in the Narberth Players' productions. The most recent was the remarkable bubble-room in "Holiday."

Direction of "Sun-Up" is in the capable hands of "Bill" Muller. As an active member of long standing, it is only fitting that this, the twenty-fifth milestone of the Players, should be under the surveillance of "Bill."

George Werner, George Suplee, Roger Burns and Joseph Hongler have constructed the scenery for the performance and all electrical work is being done by Vic Krauskop.

When the curtain rises at 8.45 P. M. tonight and tomorrow evening those present in the auditorium of the Narberth Public School will witness a vivid portrayal of the Carolina mountaineers. The Narberth Players can be justly proud of their achievement in "Sun-Up." E. L.

Wynnewood House is Main Line Restaurant

Max Schoenberger Opens Delightful Place at 1236 Montgomery Ave.

Max Schoenberger, one of the Main Line's better-known restauranteurs, provided welcome news for his host of friends in this section when he announced this week the opening of Wynnewood House, 1236 Montgomery avenue, Wynnewood.

This newly renovated property promises to be the most outstanding place of its kind in suburban Philadelphia. This old mansion, which has been a landmark on Montgomery avenue for many years, has been entirely whitened on the exterior and makes an impressive picture surrounded with its ample parking space for automobiles and its portecochere entrance which will be so greatly appreciated in inclement weather.

As you enter the spacious lobby with its blue walls, white ceiling and crystal chandelier you are impressed with the dignity of its decoration. The large Crystal Room on the left which has a capacity for seventy-five diners has a blue paper with a very unusual design running through it with an egg shell color. Here again will be found three large magnificient crystal chandeliers.

On the opposite side of the lobby is the Maple Room, while smaller in size than the Crystal Room, will accomodate thirty-five diners and is ideal for private bridge parties and luncheons.

At the end of the lobby you come into what Mr. Schoenberger thinks is the smartest and most unusual Cocktail Lounge in this part of the country. It is massive in size and will seat sixty-five people. The entire room has been treated as a ship's deck which is absolutely authentic in every detail. The cabin side of the deck has been covered with heavy armored plate and its steel rivets. Through real ship's portholes on this side of the deck gleam the yellow lights from the cabin inside. On the opposite side of the deck shows the open sea back of a real ship's rail underneath which is laced heavy white canvas. Overhead is painted the midnight blue of the sky at sea with myriad stars showing through the night.

Other decorations which lend a nautical atmosphere to this room are the ship's bell, starboard and port lights, several real life preservers on which has been lettered "S. S. Wynnewood," and a collection of regulation naval flags, such as: the commander's flag, rear commander's flag, vice-commander's flag, guest flag, fleet captain's flag, owner's absent flag, owners at dinner flag, the crew is at meal flag, regatta committee flag.

To the left of this room two doors lead to the promenade deck, a tiled floor open porch which shall be used in the summer time for open-air dining, having a seating capacity of one hundred and thirty-five people, which will bring the total seating capacity of this establishment over 300.

Mr. Schoenberger was born in Baden-Baden, the famous German Spa, and received high school education in this country and later went to Luzerne, Switzerland, and entered the Ecole-Hoteliere, a hotel training school. He has traveled all over Europe. He has worked in those hotels that are a by-word in this country. During his career he has served Mary Garden, famous opera star, Queen Marie, of Rumania, and many royal families.

Additions to Mind Alcove

Four new books have recently been added to the International Mind Alcove at the Narberth Community Library. The Alcove is a gift of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The first is "The Spanish Tragedy," by E. A. Peers. Mr. Peers, an Englishman, has written in this book a non-partisan account of the conditions leading up to the present situation in Spain. He speaks with the authority gained by long residence in the country.

"A Wayfarer in Norway," by S. J. Beckett, in contrast deals with the peaceful Scandinavian country visited by many "arm-chair" travelers in America through Trygve Gulbranssen's novel "Beyond Sing the Woods."

"Yang and Yin," by Alice T. Hobart, provides a second copy of a book already popular with the library readers. Those readers who enjoyed the author's "Oil for the Lamps of China" will want to add this one to their reading list. The novel concerns itself with medical service and research in China.

"What the International Labor Organization Means to America," edited by Spencer Miller, Jr., is another timely book. The United States has been a member of this organization since August, 1934. The book is a collection of addresses and lectures by scholars and students of industrial and economic problems.

Co-Operation Now Necessity in the Republican Party

The resignation of Mrs. John Y. Huber from the Executive Committee of the Montgomery County Republican organization, points to the possibility of a serious split in the party ranks.

As leader of the women in this section of the county, her move is particularly significant.

In her recent letter of resignation, she condemns the practice of appointing committees only to have important decisions as to the selection of candidates made by a small selected group.

Republican leaders, however, declare that it is not the province of the committee, from which Mrs. Huber resigned, to select candidates since the old Harmony Committee still functions for that purpose. They maintain that the newly-formed committee was organized for the purpose of formulating the policies of the party in the county.

Believing it impractical for too large a committee to come to a unanimous decision on such controversial matters, they place the responsibility for important decisions in the hands of a small group.

Just at this time, when the New Dealers are attempting to gain control of the county, much interest will be centered on the outcome of Mrs. Huber's action and the reaction of those in sympathy with her.

If the county is to remain Republican, there must be not only exceptionally strong, progressive leadership, but also the closest cooperation.

The national Republican Party awakened too late to the mistakes made while it was in power. Will Montgomery County profit by that lesson or will the party disintegrate here as elsewhere?

Perpetuating the New Deal

The actuality of transition is one of the few things that most of the philosophers agree upon, according to Will Durant.

No doubt many of the changes and reforms now being instituted by the Federal and State governments were inevitable. They would have been made regardless of which party was in power. History will tell whether they are good or merely more "noble experiments."

There is much logic in the letter, published on this page, from Narberth's authority on social reform. Kenneth L. M. Pray, long a staunch Democrat. Mr. Pray indorses the proposed "unified county system" of tax collection as an economic movement and is surprised that the borough's Council and School Board should have publicly approved the "present antiquated system."

OUR TOWN is heartily in favor of any change that will result in both economy of operation and increased efficiency of government. But—

OUR TOWN strongly approves the action of borough Council and School Board because—

We are in favor of local government and representative government both of which are jeopardized by nearly every act taken by the New Deal politicians.

We are not in favor of the "tax commissions, legislative investigating committees," etc., etc. indicated in Mr. Pray's letter. These mounting and multiplying agencies waste many times the excess fees paid to local officials.

Of course we are for economy, efficiency and a merit system—it all sounds fine—but it isn't fine when the primary object of all these proposals is to build up a machine at Washington and in every State that will utterly nullify local administration of affairs and that will keep New Deal appointees perpetually in power.

"Soggy Sentimentality"

"In former days it was supposed to be a cardinal virtue in a public man to prevent waste of the public funds," writes Frank Kent. "Today he is treated as something reprehensible. . . . That such a state of affairs can exist without public concern is the best evidence of the degree to which the popular mind has been anesthetized by . . . soggy sentimentality . . ."

Emergency spending, taxes and the national debt have marched inexorably to new high records. The magnitude of this spending has given the average citizen an entirely false idea of economic values. Where, a generation ago, we regarded a million dollars as a lot of money, we now read about billions with little or no thought. Where once the country was stirred by the rise of the Federal debt to the billion mark, we today view a Federal debt of thirty-five billions with equanimity. Where a single Congress that a generation ago appropriated as much as a billion dollars for a year's Federal spending was once denounced for extravagance, we now take a ten-billion dollar Congress for granted.

Whether this is due to "soggy sentimentality" or something else, it is obvious that the public mind has become anesthetized—it fails to see its place in the debt and tax picture. It is almost incredible that we should permit the central government to spend two dollars for every dollar taken in—but we do, with the apparent idea that someone besides ourselves will pay. It is equally incredible that the pre-election promises of "economy," of a thousand officeholders should be openly and even proudly violated—but they are.

When will the American people come out of the ether, and realize that they are the ones who must pay the tax and debt load? The government has no way to pay its bills except by taking hard-earned money away from all the people through taxation.

Government Reorganization

The Federal government—like all other units of government of great size—is wasteful and inefficient. There is duplication of effort. There is overlapping of departments—in some cases, ten to twenty bureaus exist for a job which could be done by one or two. There is too much division of authority.

These are facts recognized by practically everyone. In the course of its history, the government has, like Topsy, "just growed." Often it has grown without rhyme or reason. And every Administration since the Civil War has added to the bureaucratic confusion.

As a result, it widely is felt that there is a strong need for Federal reorganization. The highly conservative Senator Byrd has made a study of the subject and offered recommendations. The President appointed a "Committee on Administrative Management" to investigate and advise on possible changes.

This committee has now made its report. As diagrammed by The Capitol Daily, it recommends extensive reorganization within the framework of the constitutional "checks and balances" plan. The three separate major branches of government—the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial—would, of course, be maintained. Principal act would be the overhaul of more than one hundred independent agencies, boards, authorities, etc., and their consolidation within twelve major executive departments.

There are now ten major executive departments, State, Treasury, Justice, Post Office, Navy, War, Commerce, Agriculture, Labor and Interior. Two new departments, whose heads would be Cabinet members, would be created—social welfare and public works. The name of the Department of the Interior would be changed to the Department of Conservation. Independent bureaus of importance which would be absorbed into departments include: Resettlement Administration, Tennessee Valley Authority, Social Security Board, Federal Housing Administration, Works Progress Administration, Federal Communications Commission, Rural Electrification Administration, Civil Service Commission, National Labor Relations Board, Veterans' Administration, Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

There are two main reasons why government reorganization is desirable—efficiency and economy. Unhappily, these ends not always are compatible when politics is involved. Consequently, there is considerable dissension as to the details of reorganization.

It is probable that a White House sponsored plan, similar to that recommended by the President's Committee, will be introduced in this session of Congress. It will meet with little opposition, doubtless pass with a minimum of debate. However, it will be some time before the Solons get around to it—other legislation, notably the judicial reorganization bill, will hold the headlines for many weeks to come. All hopes for an early adjournment of Congress have been abandoned.

For Unified Tax Collection

Editor of Our Town:

It is somewhat surprising and disappointing to many citizens of Narberth to learn that our Borough Council and our Borough School Board have put themselves on record in favor of the present antiquated and costly system of local tax collection, and against a modern unified county system which has the endorsement of every group interested in efficient and economical government.

It is probable that this action by our two local governing bodies is bound up with the friendship and regard which citizens of Narberth feel for Ed Dold, the genial and capable collector of taxes in this borough. None of us would want to injure him personally, and all of us regret the fact that his present personal interests are jeopardized by the proposal for unified tax collections in the county. Doubtless the personal friends of Mr. Peter Hess in Lower Merion feel the same way about it. However, these personal friendships should not be allowed to stand in the way of reasonable progress in legislative and administrative policy.

The fact is that the collection of taxes in Narberth costs more, in proportion to the total tax levy, than the collection in Lower Merion, and that the collection in Lower Merion costs nearly twice as much as the collection of similar sums in districts where a unified county system is in force. The reason for both of these facts is obvious. The larger the territory which can be served by a single collection unit, the more economically collection can be conducted. Many tax collectors in these small units receive fabulous compensation, some of them, as in Lower Merion, substantially exceeding the salary paid the Governor of the State. There are now more than 2700 tax collectors in Pennsylvania. Under the proposed system the number would be 113, consisting of county treasurers and city treasurers, all on a straight salary basis.

Since 1935 collection of county taxes in cities has been on a salary basis and large savings have already resulted.

Most of us have become accustomed to paying our telephone and utility bills by check or through banks acting as branch collecting agencies. There is no reason in the world why our taxes should not be collected on the same basis at enormous savings.

One after another tax commissions, legislative investigating committees and independent competent students of the problem have reported against the present archaic system and have estimated that the costs in the State as a whole run many times as high as would be necessary in any sound system, while efficiency is much less.

Is it not time for progressive-minded and thoughtful governing bodies like our Council and School Board to line up on the taxpayers' side of this question? I am sure the members individually would do so, even in the face of the fact that a personal friend's position might be affected. Why do they not act collectively as they think individually?

Very sincerely yours,
KENNETH L. M. PRAY.

March Storm Sweeps Main Line District

Six-Inch Snow Blankets Suburbs; Seen as Winter's Parting Gesture

A three-day storm—winter's parting gesture, we hope—blanketed the suburban district with the heaviest snow since January 1936, obstructed traffic, impaired tempers and wrought havoc generally over the past weekend.

Commencing early Saturday morning, the snow stopped early that afternoon; commenced again early Sunday morning; turned to rain Monday morning and back again to snow late Monday afternoon, from which time until its cessation in the early hours Tuesday it really went to town. Roads, drives and sidewalks were blocked, automobiles stalled and pedestrians, blinded by the swirling icy flakes, floundered as best they could up to their ankles in snow and sleet and slush.

An official estimate places the depth of the Main Line fall in the neighborhood of six inches. Quite a comeback for a heretofore belittled winter and and one that we trust will not be duplicated for many months to come.

PHILADELPHIA BALLET

Gave Artistic Performance for Benefit of Legion Auxiliary

One of the most artistic and highly enjoyable entertainments ever given in Wayne was the performance last Saturday night in the Radnor High School auditorium of Catherine Littlefield's Philadelphia Ballet. Given for the benefit of the relief fund of the Anthony Wayne Post, No. 418, American Legion, Auxilary Unit, a large and appreciative audience was present. It is not known at this time just how much was realized for this charitable work, but it was a considerable sum.

Beginning with the "Fete Champetre," probably the best number on the program was the descriptive ballet, "Aubade," which told the story of Diane, goddess of the hunt. In this number Miss Littlefield was seen at her best, as were other members of the talented cast.

Especially charming also were the Tarantella, Czardas, dances from the "Nutcracker Suite" and from the "Bartered Bride."

The members of the auxiliary unit wish to express their sincere appreciation to all who joined in making the entertainment the success it was.

MERRIEMEN MINSTRELS

Will Give Performance in Pottstown

This year Wayne's rollicking minstrels, The Merriemen, will give a performance in Pottstown April 21. The nights for the Wayne populace to hear the super-colossal 1937 edition of the minstrels are April 23 and 24.

The Pottstown performance will be for the benefit of the Pottstown High School Band and the Wayne shows are to aid the Radnor High School scholarship fund.

Sings Leading Role

GLADYS BUZBY DARWIN
former Bala resident, who will sing the leading contralto role in the Bala-Cynwyd Choral's "Gondoliers."

Darwin and Tilbury to Sing Leading Roles in Choral

A favorite of past performances who will appear in the cast of the Bala-Cynwyd Choral's "Gondoliers" is Gladys Buzby Darwin, playing opposite James Tilbury.

Mrs. Darwin has in her Gilbert and Sullivan repertoire the roles of Buttercup in "Pinafore," Katishaw in "Mikado," Ruth in "Pirates of Penzance," and now adds that of the haughty, supercilious Dutchess, wife of the Duke of Plazatoro, and mother of the lovely Casilda.

Combining her rich contralto voice with an air of lofty disdain, she makes a grand Dutchess.

The mild, peace-loving Duke is well portrayed by Mr. Tilbury, who submits to his domineering wife with the grace of a gentleman and the ability of a born comedienne. In the role of sergeant of police in "Pirates of Penzance," Mr. Tilbury was very successful in his first appearance with the Bala-Cynwyd Choral last year.

Plan Progresses for Junior High School in Cynwyd

School Board Reopens Negotiations to Acquire Ground for Project

PURCHASES NEW TRACTS

Preliminary plans to be submitted to the architects relative to the new junior high school in Cynwyd and the renovation of the old academy building will soon be available, Superintendent S. E. Downs reported to the Lower Merion School Board Monday night.

Negotiations were reopened, Mr. Downs said, for the purchase of the three-and-one-half-acre tract in Cynwyd, which is to be the site of the new school.

Condemnation proceedings have been authorized for the acquisition of this ground, occupied by Mrs. Charles D. Gill, when the board's offer of $20,000 for the tract, which adjoins the Cynwyd School, was turned down.

A previous appraisal of the plot made by Alva T. Rogers, A. D. Warnock and Leroy A. Worrell, placed a value of $29,500 upon the ground.

The acquisition of two tracts of ground was announced at the meeting.

One in Penn Valley consists of two acres of land situated on Righter's Mill road adjoining the five acres owned by the school district, which is to be the site of an elementary school.

The other, consisting of one and eight-tenths acres, adjoins the Penn Wynne School property on Haverford road, Penn Wynne.

The Penn Valley tract was purchased from the I. Tyson Morris estate for $14,000. The Penn Wynne plot, controlled by the Provident Trust Company, was purchased for $14,500.

The establishment of a tuberculin testing plant for school children in the Ardmore avenue school, Ardmore and the Ashland school, West Manayunk, was approved by the board.

The program will be carried out by the Community Health and Civic Association with funds provided for the work by the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals.

Endorsement of the plan was given by the Main Line Branch of the Montgomery County Medical Society at its meeting last week.

Only those pupils who submit permits signed by the parents will be given the test. It is expected that the plan wil be started in the spring.

Art Trip Date Changed

The Montgomery County Art Trip will be held March 24 instead of March 29 as previously announced.

Members will attend the opening of Contemporary Crafts at the Art Alliance, 251 S. 18th street, Philadelphia, at 3 P. M. The crafts to be demonstrated by famous artists will include pottery, jewelry, stained glass, metal work, puppets, mask, weaving, wood carving, etc.

The 1937 Vegetable Garden

By W. O. Hird
of I. N. Simon & Son

With the increasing cost of food products, backyard gardening again assumes economic importance to the average home-owner, and vegetable gardens will be made this spring because of the money that can be saved. There is a keen satisfaction in producing one's own vegetables, not only for the palatable food produced, but for the benefits gained by working in the soil and being outdoors.

To get an early start one should have the advantage of a cold frame and sowings of early cabbage, eggplant, lettuce, kohl rabi, pepper, cauliflower, tomato and other tender varieties should be made about the middle of March; beets, carrots, leeks, onion sets, early peas, radish, spinach and potatoes can be sown outdoors the first of April, providing the weather is fairly settled.

To get the best out of one's garden, a careful selection of varieties that will give a succession of crops should be made, and while the standard varieties are recommended, a trial of some of the more recently introduced varieties is suggested.

Several new varieties of corn have recently been introduced; the new yellow bancross, an improved Golden Bantam variety, is well worth a trial. Cucumbers have been improved and the new Straight -8- and the Special Dark Green are good varieties. One of the best early peas is the new Early Dwarf Giant; while for a main crop the President is suggested.

This season several new varieties of spinach have been introduced, including a prickly seeded sort called the Harlem Market, a dark green sort that will stand the cold weather, and the new Summer Savoy variety that will stand the hot weather longer than other varieties before bolting to seed. The new varieties of tomatoes include the Scarlet Dawn and Grothen's Red Globe, two very fine early varieties, and the new Ruggers and Special Marglobe, which are recommended for a general crop. A point to remember, if one is to be successful, is to procure the best seeds possible, as cheap seeds usually result in disappointment.

Girl Scout News

The Merion Troop No. 18 will be known as the senior troop of Merion. The girls will meet every other Tuesday at 4.30 at the Merion Tribute House. Girls who are in Junior High and High School are invited to the meetings. It is hoped that Miss Jean Anderson, who is taking a post graduate course at Bryn Mawr College, will be the captain. She has had considerable scout experience, and has been a councilor at camp and is a Mariner Scout.

Narberth Troop 125, with Miss Ingeborg Thaysen as captain, gave a party for Boy Scout Troop No. 2 with Mr. Harkness as scoutmaster. Mr. and Mrs. Harkness, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Munro, Mrs. E. Izard, Miss Lois Staley, Miss Ingeborg Thaysen and F. M. Robb, Jr., acted as chaperones. Group games were played. Later a radio provided music for those who wished to dance, while other scouts played table games. Refreshments were served.

Hedgerow Presents "Candida" at Rose Valley Playhouse

Tonight the Hedgerow Theatre, Moylan-Rose Valley, will present "Candida" by Bernard Shaw. The three central figures of this drama are involved in a struggle between the prosaic confinement of conventional life and the dubious delights of poetic escape. Ann Harding, Hedgerow's original Candida, re-enacted this role in the Globe Theatre, London, when the play was recently produced in England.

Tomorrow night, "Wife to a Famous Man" by Martinez Sierra, satirizes the vanity and egocentricty attending sudden fame. A Spanish flyer wins an air race and becomes a public idol. Wife and children are forgotten in the enjoyment of new attractions and a domestic tragedy barely averted.

"Twelfth Night" by William Shakespeare will be shown Thursday night and a double Shaw bill will be given next Friday when "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" will precede "Androcles and the Lion."

Narberth Beats Penn Wynne; Teams May Meet in Playoff

Unless Manager Jay Neill's Narberth quintet loses to Chester in a game scheduled for this Thursday night, the borough five will take the second half title in the Main Line Basketball League and will meet Penn Wynne first-half winner, in a playoff for the championship.

Monday night Narberth "A" defeated Penn Wynne, 29-25, in an upset at the Haverford Township High School.

"Camille" at Narberth; Next —'Charlie Chan at the Opera'

"Camille," now at the Narberth Theatre, stars Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor as Margaret Gautier and Armand Duval, the tragic lovers of the Dumas novel. In the cast are Lionel Barrymore, Lenore Ulric, Laura Hope Crews and E. E. Clive. George Zukor directed.

"Charlie Chan at the Opera," Monday and Tuesday, is the latest in the series starring Warner Oland as the soft-spoken, keen-witted Chinese detective. This time there is a co-star—Boris Karloff, seen as a former operatic baritone who escapes from an insane asylum and terrorizes members of the cast playing "Faust."

A special feature Monday at nine will be the awarding of a Shetland pony.

Wednesday (Cash Award Night) Peter Lorre will be seen in "Crack Up," a thriller about espionage of airplane plans by an international ring.

Next week-end the attraction will be "Three Smart Girls" starring Deanna Durbin, 14-year-old singing prodigy of the films and radio.

Hard Coal Industry Gives Employment to Many Workers

One of the richest gems in the industrial crown of Pennsylvania is that black diamond anthracite—good, hard coal. It has been estimated that anthracite mines in this State give employment to nearly 600,000 miners, men who are skilled in this one occupation and who would otherwise probably swell the tax burden and the relief rolls if anything happened to the hard coal mines. Speaking of taxes, the anthracite producing companies pay local and county taxes of something like $20,000,000, which is a most respectable amount, even in these days of big figures, and, roughly, equivalent to the payment of a $4 tax by every person in Pennsylvania over 21 years of age.

In this regard it is noteworthy that thousands of home-owners are users of Newton Coal, and Newton in turn keeps the wheels of employment turning by the upkeep of many modern yards, a delivery force of some 150 of the latest type coal trucks. All this keeps men at work.

Her subject was "Anti-Communism." Mrs. Good stated that Communism was spreading rapidly and in order to combat this Americanism should be taught in the schools and also among the foreign population. She also advocated that Christianity and Americanism should be spread among all such groups in order to combat Atheism and Communism.

TREDYFFRIN CUTS TAX

Road Levy Slashed to 2½ Mills; Fire Rate Also Lowered

Tredyffrin Township supervisors slashed the district road levy to 2½ mills at their meeting last week. This marks a considerable reduction from the 8-mills rate in force a few years ago and will result in no small saving to residents of the township.

The fire tax likewise underwent a reduction, being cut to ½ mill.

In addition, the supervisors announced the completion of a drainage project near the Bradley property on Old Lancaster road and declared their intention of effecting highway repairs to that section of Old Lancaster road lying between Howellville and Conestoga roads.

A request that these repairs be made recently was made to the supervisors by the Berwyn Business Men's Association at the instance of affected residents.

Footlighters Shine in Barry's "You and I"

Unquestionably the severest test of latent dramatic talent is the ability to put across work more or less out of the ordinary; a production which may partly lack the spontaneity and zest one is accustomed to find in a modern comedy.

Wherefore Wayne's Footlighters deserve a more than usual share of credit for their handling of Philip Barry's "You and I," which they presented to appreciative audiences on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Although termed a comedy, the Barry opus inclines a bit to the heavy side. It deals with the problems of a young architectural student who, because of his intended marriage, abandons his chosen profession for more remunerative work. His father, reversing matters, throws over his position to follow art and soon finds himself in difficulties. The girl, seeing herself as an obstacle to her lover's career, breaks off their engagement and everything apparently is on the verge of disaster when father comes to his senses, realizes he is not intended for an artist and accepts a fine position. Boy and girl marry and go to Europe to study architecture in earnest and all live happily ever after.

Out of this rather dispiriting set of circumstances The Footlighters produced a really creditable piece of work. True, the action lagged at times and some of the comedy seemed forced, but this may be attributed as much to the actual plot as to its interpretation. Donald Brookfield as the son and Caroline Ransom as his betrothed portrayed their roles with convincing frankness, while Rachel Kirk, Ernest Schmidt and Jacob Rittenhouse received well-merited applause. Their performances attain greater significance when it is recalled each is new to The Footlighters' stage.

William Ward, in the lead, showed real understanding and ability, while Isabel Ruth, playing his wife, gave another of those fine characterizations with which Footlighter audiences are familiar.

Director John Hoag deserves much credit for his production. He was ably assisted by Betty Powell, while John Reed's set construction was both realistic and attractive.

Bryn Mawr Woman's Club

The Garden Department of the Woman's Club of Bryn Mawr held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Raymond K. Powell in Rosemont last Thursday morning, when Mrs. H. McKnight Moore, Sr., read a paper on "Coverings and Flowers for Shady Spots," and Mrs. James H. Egan one on rock gardens.

The next meeting of this group will be held on April 1 at 10.00 A. M. at the home of Mrs. Earle Bond on Old Lancaster road. Mrs. H. McKnight Moore, Jr., will read a paper on "Herb Gardens," and Mrs. Earle Bond and Miss Helen Ristine papers on "Plantings for Color Combinations." Mrs. Wiley F. Corl is the chairman of the goup.

first time this season that they have played against just such a set-up.

The encouraging thing is the fact that our boys are growing in self-confidence through their experiences in the tournament games that they have already played. In these games they are meeting teams that have not made an exhaustive study of the Lower Merion offense and it is pleasing to them to find that they really have a sound and effective style of play—one that will get results with competent officiating.

The Palestra is not exactly the best floor for this year's team. Abe Ramsey, Chuck Viguers and some of the other members seem to tire too rapidly on a floor the size of the Palestra. It may be that Andy will have to rest them during the course of the game in order to keep them effective throughout the contest. One bright gleam, though, is the positive fact that a zone defense will not be as effective on such a large floor as it would be on one of smaller dimensions.

IF Lower Merion should win this game tonight, they will be meeting Newport High School next week, probably at Hershey. There is a possibility that the game may be played also at the Palestra, however, as Secretary Wicht of the P. I. A. A. is very favorable toward the idea of keeping the game close enough for the large Lower Merion following which seems to insist on seeing the games.

Secretary Wicht of the P. I. A. A. is turning Scotch or something. He has increased the price of admission to the games and in the same paragraph cut the fees of the officials. "Tight" is the word the Greeks have for it.

The Junior High School lost out in the finals of the Montgomery County tournament to Stewart of Norristown, 24 to 18. The Stewart lads play real smart basketball and were the only team to defeat the Orange and Black this season.

Ardmore Woman's Club

A capacity audience attended the Birthday Library Party held at the Woman's Club of Ardmore last Friday afternoon to celebrate the 38th birthday of the founding of the Ardmore Library. Mrs. Frederick C. Peters, chairman of the Library Committee, gave the annual report, stating the increased circulation in both the adult and children's library, and thanked the members of the club and the community for their support in making it possible for the committee to meet the growing needs of the community. Miss March, librarian of the Children's Library, gave a very interesting account of the National Book Week in New York.

Mrs. George Emerson Barnes, well known for her book reviews, and also president of the New Century Club of Philadelphia, gave an interesting resume of the latest books in fiction and non-fiction. Among the books she recommended were "Paradise," the new historical novel; Philip Gibb's "City of Refuge," "We Are Not Alone," by James Hilton; "The Odyssey of an American Doctor," "Blue Hills," by Cornelius Weygandt, Rudyard Kipling's Biography and last but not least, the new edition of the Bible by Ernest Sutherland Bates and many others. The soloist of the afternoon was Mrs. S. H. Barrington of Norristown who sang two groups of songs, among which were "Songs of Joy" and "I Walk Through a Garden."

Miss Besse D. Howard will be the speaker at the meeting to be held in the clubrooms this Friday afternoon at three o'clock sharp. Her topic will be "International Current Events."
